

WE NOMINATE

Ernest William Smillie, first and only Superintendent of the Department of Animal and Plant Pathology of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, who this past week became the first New Jersey public servant ever to be honored simultaneously by five governors of the State. With the consolidation of the Institute's research activities in New York City, and with Princeton University's recent acquisition of the 800-acre Rockefeller tract, the tribute paid Smillie by Governors Hoffman, Moore, Edison, Edge and Driscoll marked the end of an important chapter in the history of Princeton's development as a research center.

It was in 1916, the year the Rockefeller Institute opened its laboratories here, that Smillie appeared on the Princeton scene as a newly graduated doctor of veterinary medicine. Intrigued by the prospect of working under the late great Theobald Smith, he came to stay "for two or three years and somehow or other never got around to leaving." During World War I he helped operate the "serum plant" established by the Rockefeller Foundation for the Allied Forces and in 1919 was named superintendent of the department that was to add so tremendously to man's knowledge of the "general processes of disease and the recovery therefrom."

Down through the years, Smillie, a 59-year old native of Eaton, Colo., and in his youth a "horse-jingler" on the 7-Cross Ranch on Cow Creek, was the man-behind-the-scenes at the Brunswick Pike laboratories. As the research program broadened and the Institute added to its physical facilities, he assumed responsibility for providing whatever might be needed by such eminent research scientists as Dr. Smith, Carl Ten Broeck, Wendell M. Stanley and John H. Northrop (co-winners of the Nobel Prize in chemistry in 1946) and Richard E. Shope. In the process of "backing up" science, he also succeeded in developing what agricultural authorities looked upon as New Jersey's outstanding farm.

Secretary of Plainsboro's governing body for a period of seven years and a former Trustee of Princeton Hospital, Smillie was elevated to the New Jersey Board of Health in 1935 and for the next 12 years laid the groundwork for the present streamlined Department of Health. He and his associates, in striving to place the State's health organization beyond the reach of patronage, "sold" New Jersey on a completely revised public health code, which was finally enacted in 1947 while he was serving under his fifth Chief Executive.

For his distinguished supporting role in the sphere of science; for his contributions to the forward movement of New Jersey's public health program; for sharing with others his capacities for community leadership; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Random Notes. A bill to license bicycles, requiring payment of an annual $5 fee, has been passed by the Assembly in the State Legislature and now goes to the Senate.
If the measure becomes law, it will be optional with individual municipalities, but such legislation has already been favorably recommended to the mayor and council by at least one civic group.

Princeton's best known resident, Albert Einstein of 112 Mercer Street, will observe his 72nd birthday next Wednesday.

Miss Eleanor V. Weld, 30-year-old member of the staff of the Firestone Library, whose home is at 4 Mercer Street, was the third juror chosen to serve in the trial of the six Trenton Negroes charged with the murder of a storekeeper in that city. An original death verdict reached against them was revoked and the case has drawn international attention, largely through the efforts of communistic groups to paint a picture of unfair treatment of the defendants. While serving on the panel, Miss Weld and the other jurors will live under guard in a Trenton hotel where their newspapers, radio and television programs will undergo strict censorship to prevent swaying their opinions on the case.

Commander Charles Noble, chief engineer of the New Jersey Turnpike, told the Republican Club meeting Tuesday night that the 118-mile project will be finished on schedule next November, thus permitting motorists to go from one end of the state to the other without stopping for a red light. Among the incentives: interest payments on borrowed funds of $20,000 a day and anticipated tolls amounting to $26,000 daily, thus costing the Turnpike Authority $46,000 for every day the job remains unfinished.

Helpful note on income tax returns: a tax guide that has come to our attention informs us that the federal tax on any opium or marihuana we may have purchased during the past calendar year is deductible in full.

Cause for Concern: A letter written to TOWN TOPICS by Mrs. George H. Gallup contains information of much interest to all Princetonians concerned with the future development of their community. It is reprinted here in full:

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

It has just come to my attention that one of the business firms on Nassau Street—a restaurant operator—is contemplating a new building and has filed an application for a building permit. If my information is correct, this businessman is planning to place a highway-type, chromium-plated, neon-lighted diner on Nassau Street.

During the past few years, I have followed with very great interest and very great hope the conduct of "Operation Nassau." Through this movement a group of citizens has attempted to maintain the essential character of Princeton by keeping its business section in line with the colonial beauty of our town and the unique character of our campus.

Judging from the fine turn-out and enthusiastic response at a public meeting held last fall, the citizenry is thoroughly in favor of the objectives of "Operation Nassau." Thirty-three awards were made to merchants and property owners who have voluntarily cooperated in planning redecoration or remodeling to conform to the long-range plans for beautifying our business section.

Now, at this critical point, a merchant proposes to install a type of building which is unobjectionable architecturally on a highway or across from a factory or depot entrance in some industrial town.
However, to bring this type of structure onto Nassau Street seems to me to be a direct violation of the wishes of the citizenry who have so actively supported "Operation Nassau."

There have been many new buildings, remodeling and redecorating projects in the past three years.
Every other merchant in town who has remodeled during this period has voluntarily entered into the spirit of "Operation Nassau." This includes two out-of-town companies whose new buildings and fronts are a real credit to the colonial beauty of Princeton. These two companies, Woolworth and the Diana Stores, were eager to cooperate with the citizens of Princeton and departed from their typical store-front plan to do so.

A chromium-plated diner probably conforms to our zoning laws as they pertain to fire-resistant materials, but it certainly doesn't conform to the colonial beauty of Princeton. I feel that we here in Princeton would be the losers if we depart from the objective of beauty as planned for our town.

Surely there must be some other type of treatment or type of building than a chromium-plated diner that would provide housing for a prosperous, progressive business firm.

ORIBELLA M. GALLUP

Many Princetonians will no doubt agree that appearance of the town's business section will not benefit from the addition of neon lights and garish chrome, and that an equally successful restaurant business can be conducted behind some front more in line with existing architecture in the community.
Those who wish to register their feelings on the matter are referred to the four directors of "Operation Nassau," their addresses and telephone numbers: Dilman M. K.
Smith, Opinion Research Corporation (2600); John A. Archer, University Laundry (3123); Julian E.
Garnsey, 138 Nassau Street (2005); and Oren Jack Turner, Jr., 112 Nassau (780).

Republicans Named. Twenty-four hours before the primary deadline, the Republicans had a three-way race in the primaries among the probable candidates listed here last week: Councilman Charles J. Ronak, Tristram B. Johnson, Norvell B. Samuels. Other candidates, unopposed in the primaries, P. Mac-Kay Sturges for mayor; Harry B.
Warren, assessor; Wilbur F. Kerr, collector-treasurer; Albert J. Salzman, township committee; Joseph to be unopposed next Fall. The

It's New to Us

(PASS THE ASPIRIN, PLEASE)

Dream sequence of what we'd like to get if we'd gotten something more spectacular than the flu. . .

If We'd Just Had a Baby. The sheet and pillowcase set sporting a grinning calico cat in either pink or blue . . . a whimsical little plastic "do not disturb" sign to hang on the baby's door (or yours), hand decorated with your own nursery colors if you wish . . . a sterling silver comb and brush set, not so tiny that it will fuff up only the first fuzz . . . a cotton-pickler that doesn't have any taint of the medicine chest about it—all pale plastic and pretty as it is functional. . . the week's rest in the hospital! The dreamy hmy things are all at The Town Shop, 12 Nassau Street.

If We Were Convalescing With a Good Book. We'd get a good chuckle and lots of pleasure out of a "mouse-marker"—first cousin to Mickey, with the longest tail you ever saw, all done up in colored felt to mark your reading matter.
One dollar takes this at (of course) the Better Mousetrap, 164 Nassau Street.

If We Were on a Liquid Diet.
We'd love to have some of those new sponge rubber coasters to keep the fruit juice off the furniture.
Called "Ghosts"—they come six to a cellophane pack in delicious colors and fit into the most jumbo highball or old fashioned glasses. One ninety-five is the price —the place, again, the Better Mousetrap.

If We Had to Stay in Bed. We can't think of anything more luxurious than a pretty pale sweater to wear as a bedjacket (especially if it's flu and you've had chills and a fever). The ultimate in grandeur for us would be one of the angora ones at Clayton's . . . but they're also Chinese cashmere ones, as well as plain machine-knits if you'd rather.
The collection starts at $8.95.

If We Were Getting Away From
It All. Going off to the city over Easter perhaps, to walk in the parade . . . eat a leisurely breakfast at Rumpelmeyer's. That's when we'd really love a really citified little silk suit—the kind that rarely sees the country but lives right around the clock with you in town.

And this Spring the Clothes Line does this suit beautifully—usually either in faille or ottoman in navy or black . . . every once and a while rings in one of the new coat dresses for spice. One of these could be yours for as little as $19.95 . . . but if you're really flush, there's a gem at $49.95.

FOR YOU BACKYARD GARDENERS or hobbyists: The nation's leading Soil Testing Kit contains all solutions, test tubes and charts for testing all types of soil needed to produce beautiful flowers, vegetables, shrubs, evergreens—and trees! No knowledge of chemistry needed, just follow the chart. It's fun to do and an interesting hobby. Kits priced at $2.50 and $4.75. Sold by Gene Seal Flowers, 200 day night's deadline, were paying most attention toward presenting the strongest possible slate for borough council and for township committee.

Carnival Nears. A colorful pageant based on "The Wizard of Oz," with many children of the community taking part, is among the features of the annual Ice Carnival scheduled for next Friday and Saturday evenings in Baker Rink. It is sponsored by the Princeton Skating Club and the High School Parent-Teacher Association, with proceeds in part aiding the latter's scholarship fund.

Among those to be seen are Miss Hildegarde Balmain, the club's senior professional and former U.S. National Junior Champion; William Haudoeffer, Jr., Kinky Hubby, La Anne Elliott, Hope and Hilary Thompson, the club's pair champions; Emery Fletcher, Michael Erdman, Betsy Thomas, Lucille Stafford, James Muller and Helen Ann Rousseau. The latter, aged 4, has been on Life's cover and often attracts crowds when she skates in Rockefeller Center.

Other titleholders to be seen include George Manuel of Philadelphia, 1951 Middle Atlantic champion; Carole Hong of New York, Senior Lady Middle Atlantic champion; Vera Ruth and Luann Elliott, Middle Atlantic Pair champions; Beth Sindene of Chicago; Slavka Kohout, Mid-Western senior lady champion; Dudley Richards, senior men's champion in the East who was a member of the U.S. team at the world's championships in Italy, this winter; Virginia Hoynes and Donald Jacoby of Philadelphia, Eastern States Gold Dance Winners; and Irene Maguire and Walter Muehlbroner, holders of numerous titles and medals who were so well received here two years ago.

Adult members of the Skating Club will also be featured in various numbers, with participants totalling 165 in all. Tickets are on sale at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau; orders cannot be handled by telephone.

Calling All Key Holders. The Princeton Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, planning its annual dinner for March 27, will hear Professor Charles G. Osgood as the principal speaker. Honored as guests on the occasion will be 13 members of the Class of 1951 at Princeton already elected to membership, as well as 30 top-ranking students of each of the four undergraduate classes.

All members of Phi Beta Kappa in the Princeton area are invited to be present at the dinner. Full information should be obtained from Donald C. Mackenzie, 16 McCosh Hall, before next Thursday.

Teasers. The Community Players are not only enjoying preparations for their next show (Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth,") but they're taking considerable pleasure in telling people about it. For example, this week's advertisement (page 11) invites you to hear dinosaurs talk merely by going to the McCarter Theatre on March 30 or 31.

Then there's the subject of Antrobuses, a species of animal apparently not the least bit extinct in this area. According to Thornton Wilder, who wrote the Pulitzer Prize play which explains all, many a Princetonian is an Antrobus.

Advance publicity reports that "an Antrobus has survived almost everything and can still look to the future with a great deal of hope. An Antrobus is also capable of ac—

News of the Theatres

THE McCARTER

Three Concerts. The Princeton University Orchestra and Glee Club, together with the Smith College Glee Club, will give a joint concert Saturday night at 8:45, an enjoyable event sponsored by the Friends of Music and open to the public without charge. Principal selections will be the Bach Cantata, No. 67 with chorus and orchestra; two rarely-heard works by Mozart; six chansons by Paul Hindemith; the orchestra's rendition of Haydn's Symphony No. 93 in D major; and compositions by Berlioz, Holst and Randall Thompson.

The Albeneri Trio will give the fourth of its chamber music concert series Tuesday evening at 8:30, with March 27 set as the new date for its final appearance here. Next week's program, last of the group devoted entirely to Beethoven, will include the Trio in G major, Op. 1, No. 2; the Variations on "Ich bin der Schneider Kakadu" in G major, Op. 121 A; the famous Sonata for Piano and Violin in A Major, Op. 47 ("Kreutzer").

Next Saturday evening will be marked by the long-awaited recital which Robert and Gaby Casadesus will give for the benefit of Miss Fine's School. Tickets ($2.40 and $3.60) are available through Saturday by application to Mrs. Gordon G. Sikes, 90 Battle Road; thereafter, at the University Store, but they are selling quickly.

MURRAY THEATRE

Henry IV, postponed last week because several members of the cast were victims of the same illness that has been plaguing many Princetonians, is now set to open Wednesday evening. It will run for a week, with curtain each night at 8:30 and tickets at the University Store and box office. The Pirandello play makes for an entertaining evening.

THE PLAYHOUSE

September Affair (Thurs.-Sat.) is the story of a romance between Joan Fontaine and Joseph Cotten that develops after they escape from an airplane crash in which they are listed as killed. Since he is previously married, retribution eventually interrupts their idyl. Picturesquely and prettily told, the story relies on tinsel to shield the fact that there's little or nothing to it.

Three Guys Named Mike (Sun.-Tues.) casts Jane Wyman as a young airline hostess learning her job and three suitors (Van Johnson, Howard Keel, Barry Sullivan) all trying to win her favor. Situations here and there, as Miss Wyman progresses from training school to veteran stewardess, are amusing but the story is thin and the situations are routine.

U.S.S. Teakettle (Wed.-Sat.) is one you are quite likely to enjoy. A New Yorker story furnished the basis for the plot, a very amusing record of the shakedown cruise of a Navy patrol ship whose Naval Reserve captain (Gary Cooper), fellow officers and crew are about as inexperienced a bunch of landlubbers as ever set foot on any deck. But lack of ability is replaced with persistence and courage, and the net result of their experiences makes enjoyable cinema fare.

THE GARDEN

Frenchie (Fri.-Sat.) is the role taken by Shelley Winters, who plays a Louisiana hussy laying a trap for the men who killed her father but proves to be a lovely lady who snares Sheriff Joel McRea. A Western that looked for a different slant and became thoroughly lost in the process.

The General Died at Dawn (Mon.-Tues.) is an adventure story first released in the mid-thirties, set in the Orient and showing what can happen to a pair of Americans who meddle with Asiatic affairs. Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll are the near-victims; the late Akim Tamiroff is very much of a villain of the old school.

Madness of the Heart (Wed.-Thurs.) delves rather deeply into romance and pathos as blind Margaret Lockwood weds Paul Dupuis and the latter's scheming sister sets out to wreck the marriage. A British picture (J. Arthur Rank) that remains somewhat run-of-the-mill.

The Man Who Cheated Himself (Fri.-Sat.) is a crime drama in which a pair of brothers, both detectives, become involved in a murder. One of them commits it and uses his long experience to cover up the trail; the other relies on his knowledge to solve the crime, which is climaxed by the usual chase sequence. Lee J. Cobb, John Dall and Jane Wyatt are the principals.

SPORTS IN SHORT

Title Shot. The picturesque town of State College, Pa., set in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains eight miles from the nearest railroad, is the scene of the Eastern Intercollegiate wrestling tournament this weekend. It's the same show that was staged in Dillon Gym last March, but at Penn State, where they take their wrestling more seriously, upwards of 5,000 persons will watch the proceedings. If everything goes well for Princeton, along about 9:30 Saturday night an Orange and Black representative may be squarely in the spotlight. Chances are, too, that he'll be the only Tiger entrant to go very far in the tournament. He's Brad Glass, the sophomore guard in Charlie Caldwell's defensive platoon who is one of the East's top heavyweight wrestlers. Weighing 202, Brad won every elimination match with Reddy Finney, this year's captain who is also above average in the heavyweight field. Then, as final proof of his right to the varsity ranking all season, he completed the year unbeaten.

The young Northwestern transfer (he was ineligible here as a freshman because he came from the midwestern university and had to sit one year out) has a tough road to follow this weekend. Two teams which Princeton did not meet, Penn State and Cornell, also boast unbeaten heavyweights. The Nittany Lions have Homer Barr, who will defend the title he won last year in Dillon Gym. Cornell has Jim Clark, who beat Barr two years ago.

Jimmy Reed thinks Glass will have a good chance with both of them, but hopes he won't meet Barr until the finals. By that time, Barr may have eliminated Clark, particularly if the defending champion is seeded first and Glass second. A good deal of the final outcome, Reed believes, will depend on the seeding and the luck of the draw.

Finney, regrettably, will be out of action, since he has been advised not to try to make the weight in the 177-pound class. Tony Orser is Princeton's only other bet to go very far in the tournament, but is not expected to do more than reach the semi-finals in the 157-pound class. Otherwise, the Tigers are building for better seasons than the 1951 campaign, which saw an inexperienced squad win three out of seven. The most recent defeat was a 26-5 loss to Lehigh Saturday night, with Glass the only Princetonian to win.

the fact that in a one-point decision, at least eight of the victors' points came on fast breaks following stolen balls. For the fourth successive game, the Tigers failed to catch fire until the second half, and for the second time in a row, an eight-point deficit at the intermission proved too great a handicap. Two Princeton rallies when play resumed almost did the trick. One cut Cornell's 14-point lead from 34-20 to 36-24. The second, launched with less than four minutes to go, found the Red leading, 53-42.

John Emery converted on a jump shot, Foster Cooper kept things going with a tap-in and Mike Kearns made the last of five second-half field goals with a short push shot. Now it was 19-04 and 53-48 for Cornell.

Dick Kazmaier hit twice on fantastic push shots from well out on the left side to make it 53-52 with half a minute left. But here, Cornell's freeze, which hadn't been functioning well, withstood the test and the clock ran out before the home forces could regain possession.

The loss set the Princetonians down in fourth place, a spot in which they stay unless they can top Penn in the Palestra as the season ends Saturday night. Columbia, meanwhile, has succeeded them as Eastern League champions and will represent the Ivy circuit in N.C. A.A. competition.

Bothfield Shines. Princeton's hockey team lost no time in hammering Dartmouth into submission Saturday afternoon in Baker Rink, making its last home performance of the season its best. With Hank Bothfield scoring three goals, the Tigers rolled to an easy 9-3 win. It was the third time this season the sophomore center had turned the hat trick.

Less than four minutes after the game had started, Princeton had a 3-0 lead, and it was 5-0 when the buzzer sounded at the end of the first period. Dartmouth came back to make it 5-2 at six minutes of the final round but the Nassau skaters added four more goals before the rough fray ended. One fight marked the proceedings.

Dick McMahon, minding the Indians' cage, had a busy afternoon as the Orange and Black took 39 shots at him. On the other hand, the Indians could get only 26 away at Rod Cole as the Nassau goalie got better protection from his mates than he has had all season.

Tuesday night saw Dick Vaughan's outfit finish its season moving at a rapid pace in the right direction. The Tigers wrapped up their third straight, whipping Harvard at Boston, 8-3, and sweeping the two-game series with the Crimson for the first time in a decade.

The sophomore line jammed in six goals, five of the victors' scores coming in the final period to break a 3-all tie. Bill Gall tallied three times, flank Bothfield twice, Jinx Cleaves once and all three had one or more assists. Chuck Weedon and Johnny Hoffman accounted for the others.

Surprisingly, the seemingly weak Dartmouth squad topped Brown, 4-3, the same evening, thus finishing in third place. The Tigers are victory over Harvard Saturday night to hold that spot alone. Otherwise, the Crimson, which whitewashed the Blue, 4-0, last weekend, will tie Princeton in the final standings. Tuesday's victory gave the Orange and Black an over-all record of 7-10-1 for the season.

Short Notes. Princeton High School was scheduled to play South River in New Brunswick this Thursday night for the Group III Central Jersey championship. The Little Tigers won their first game last Friday by topping Bound Brook, 56-40, as Ray Davis and Buster Thomas each threw in 15 points.

Held to a 13-13 tie after one period, the Blue and White moved out to a 25-18 lead by half-time. A 20-point surge in the third quarter while the losers were being held to 13 clinched the outcome.

Hun School lost to Delbarton last Friday but won its ninth game of the season Monday afternoon when it set back the George School, 41-33. Of the Red and Black's total, Bill Hogarty accounted for 30 points, 20 of the min the second half. A game with St. Bernard's School Friday afternoon will wind up the season.

Princeton's track team placed third in a field of ten in the Winter Heptagonals last Friday, with Army the winner and Yale second. Among the Tigers' point-getters was Stan Blumenfeld, who took second in the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet, 1 3/4 inches after having been side-lined with a heart ailment two years ago.

A swimming meet with Army at 3:30 and fencing matches with Columbia are the only athletic events here this Saturday afternoon. It's the final day of the Winter sports season.

In the Mercer County Bowling Association handicap tournament, held at the Princeton Recreation Center, the Princeton Eagles took top prize ($300) with a team score of 3,015. The 300 Club placed second with 2,930, with another Eagles entry third; the Post Office fourth; Matthews' Construction fifth and Princeton Engine Company No. 1 sixth.

Princeton's baseball candidates, hopeful of making the finest college showing in the East this year, have started practice, but in a limited way because of lack of indoor space. When ground and weather conditions permit, Emerson Dickman will take his players outside. The 24-game schedule arranged for the Tigers begins March 31 against C.C.N.Y., with six contests scheduled in the first eight days.

One-Point Loss. Outstanding defensive play by Cornell, plus an excellent defense by Princeton, made the game a pivot point for valuable losses. Princeton could not match, were instrumental in giving Cornell a 53-52 triumph Saturday night. The Big Red was outmanned by Cornell, but the outcome did not allow for a general degree of disappointment.

The visitors were outshot from Cornell, and gave up 44-24, but committed few fouls and made such a high percentage of their own free throws that they won out in the close contest for the title. The Big Red was charged with only seven personal, from which the Tigers drew only seven shots from the foul line, and Cornell converted 11 of the 14 it took and served up second place with the victory. Percentage-wise, the Ithacans were also far superior to the Nassau. The Big Red had made four field goal attempts compared to 32 for the Tigers.

What hurt most, of course, was

Remember, Every Day Of Illness Reduces Your Earning Power!

If you're not feeling your best, don't rely on self-diagnosis to find out what's wrong. Don't depend on old-fashioned remedies to make you well—don't listen to a neighbor's prescription instead of your doctor's.

Let the full knowledge of modern science restore your health. When you feel ill, the first step to take is to consult your family physician.
